 Center for the Study of Force and Diplomacy
TEMPLE UNIVERSITY®

Presents

Audra Wolfe

On

"Hearts, Minds, and Labs:
Science as Cold War
Cultural Diplomacy"

Tuesday,
September 30, 2014

3:30 PM

Gladfelter Hall,
9th Floor,
Weigley Room (914)

Audra J. Wolfe is a writer, editor, and historian based in Philadelphia. Her first book, Competing with the Soviets: Science, Technology, and the State in Cold War America, was published in 2012. Her research centers on the role of science in the Cold War, whether in the form of weapons or cultural diplomacy. She will be speaking about her current research project, which considers the surprising role of science in Cold War soft diplomacy, from scientific exchanges and lecture tours to the CIA's role in defining "scientific freedom."

Contact silke.zoller@temple.edu for more details